European Commission publishes proposal for recovery plan and adjusts 2020 Work Programme

It will help the directing of targeted enforcement action and improving single market law compliance. Possible measures to improve compliance of products sold via online platforms will be analysed as part of the Digital Services Act. In this context, further possibilities to facilitate and strengthen the use by businesses and citizens of national redress mechanisms will also be explored.

EUR

II Improving the transposition, implementation and application of EU rules Incorrect transposition, implementation and application of EU rules creates barriers and obstacles to a smooth functioning of the single market.

European Commission publishes proposal for recovery plan and adjusts 2020 Work Programme

The possible gains are often very short term, but the impact on European businesses can be much more damaging, making it far more difficult to scale up on a genuine level playing field and create global leaders, thus skewing the level playing field from within.

European digital single market

Further possibilities will be explored to improve coordination and communication on specific enforcement matters amongst Member States authorities responsible for single market surveillance. Following the adoption of national laws, Member States should provide the Commission with a clear and precise explanation of which national provisions transpose the corresponding obligations in directives. A well-functioning single market allows EU citizens to enjoy a wider choice of services and products and better job opportunities.
