Julius Caesar Quotes by William Shakespeare

For Brutus' sake, I am beholding to you. Then like a Roman bear the truth I tell: For certain she is dead, and by strange manner. He adds that of all the wonders he has heard, nothing puzzles him more than the strange fear in men of death, which being an essential end cannot be avoided and will come when it has to come.

Julius Caesar : Shakespeare for Everyone by Jennifer Mulherin hardback

So you thought him; And took his voice who should be prick'd to die, In our black sentence and proscription. Your master, Pindarus, In his own change, or by ill officers, Hath given me some worthy cause to wish 1925 Things done, undone: but, if he be at hand, I shall be satisfied.

Shall I entreat a word? You all did love him once, not without cause: What cause withholds you then to mourn for him? If you have tears, prepare to shed them now. But if these, As I am sure they do, bear fire enough To kindle cowards and to steel with valour The melting spirits of women, then, countrymen, 740 What need we any spur but our own cause, To prick us to redress? A trade, sir, that, I hope, I may use with a safe conscience; which is, indeed, sir, a mender of bad soles. You shall confess that you are both deceived.

Within my tent his bones to-night shall lie, Most like a soldier, order'd honourably. In the news Director Gregory Doran talks about recent African history as the concept behind the production.

Julius Caesar: List of Scenes

Tintinius, if thou lovest me, Mount thou my horse, and hide thy spurs in him, Till he have brought thee up to yonder troops, And here again; that I may rest assured 2515 Whether yond troops are friend or enemy. They now offer us an insight into how the words of Shakespeare resonated with these men who were imprisoned for campaigning for an equal South Africa. My heart laments that virtue cannot live Out of the teeth of emulation.

Gregory Doran 2012 production

Go to the pulpit, Brutus. Do not go forth to-day: call it my fear That keeps you in the house, and not your own. I dreamt to-night that I did feast with Caesar, And things unlucky charge my fantasy: I have no will to wander forth of doors, Yet something leads me forth.

Sure, the boy heard me: Brutus hath a suit 1185 That Caesar will not grant.
