Battle Abbey Roll Volume 1

Roger Arundel's son Wido, or Guy, held under him Pourton, Dorset Domesday. This barony expired with the fourth lord in 1773.

A GLANCE AT THE HUNDRED OF WROTHAM, Including the parishes of Wrotham, Ightham, Shipbourne, and Stansted, in the days of The Early Edwards. Edited by the Rev. T. S. Frampton, B.C.L., M.A. by FRAMPTON, T. S., edited by.: (1881)

Waite, an accomplished Indian scout, and Jennings got approved as agents to bargain for the captives, built a canoe and went up Lake George and Lake Champlain in the winter to Quebec City, Canada. Differences of opinion as to discipline, baptism and qualifications for church membership had split the churches of Hartford and Wethersfield; the Withdrawers had decided to seek a new home at a higher point on the Connecticut River, 50 miles north through the wilderness.
