Right to silence

If the arrestee wishes to inform his relative or intimate of his arrest and the fulfillment of his wish would not be difficult and not be disruptive to his arrest or restraint or detrimental to any person, the officer shall allow the arrestee to so fulfill to the extent reasonable according to the circumstances. The company is in financial trouble and needs to raise cash to cover its debt obligations.

Do Patients Have the Right to Refuse Treatment?

While it has always been prohibited to pass on to an individual labor costs related to search and retrieval, our experience in administering and enforcing the HIPAA Privacy Rule has shown there is confusion about what constitutes a prohibited search and retrieval cost and this guidance further clarifies this issue. Under the current RTKL, all state and local government agency records are presumed to be public. What do you think is your greatest weakness? Most of the current RTKL took effect on Jan.

Being questioned

Department of the Army, 867 F. The First Amendment protects your right to assemble and express your views through protest. Section 148 can reasonably be construed as applying to nondisclosure of identity following arrest for felonies, but not minor offenses, if this exception applies to the provisions cited above dealing with arrests for minor offenses.
