Several studies were carried out on the impact of institutional factors on tax revenue in developing nations using panel data analysis without specific effect, but it seems not many have been conducted in Nigeria. This study situates the plays within cultural and historical contexts while also focusing on practices of theatrical staging. Statistical power analysis for the behavioural sciences.

EFL course book evaluation in Greek primary schools: Views from teachers and authors

Measure 1 B 2: We will analyze a random sampling of 10 COE portfolio cover letters of ED 331 English seminar teacher assistants for evidence of students' knowledge of their own strengths and weaknesses in the teaching of literature and composition. This course traces the cultural histories of the United States in order to help students understand its contested values and rich literary traditions. Mac Colla is especially keen to expose the determinism of Marxism as a myth.
