Highway 75.....The King of Trails

You still have some uphill stretches ahead, but this is the highest spot on the hike, at 1,375 feet. Is that what you recommend as well? Looking forward to meeting people who share our same interest. This is what I love about trail Running.

It can become the greatest website and hudson valley hikers best friend. I went by myself, and a partner would have helped 58 yrs old.

Scott Jurek is King of the Trail

Even today, when it was really overcast, the sights were just great! Would be so much nicer if paved. As stated on registration and race pages, there are no refunds or transfers. We were missing the initial experience already by the end of the hike, so we went back to the orange trail head and redid a short climb! I have the feeling we will be using your guide more often in the coming weeks looking for social isolation outdoors.

Rusted and gutted, but plainly beautiful, old train cars smaller than most are mounted at intervals along the trail. After I hobbled down from Big Bald to Erwin, Tennessee, I thought the hike was over. Add to that walking poles to help traverse muddy sections and small streams, along with a waterproof tent, a sleeping mat, and a warm sleeping bag the nights are generally cold.

Storm King Mountain

For this Canadian adventure, we had a Hemi-powered Rebel to play with, which offered up plenty of power for both on- and off-road adventures. One day, when he could no longer pay for respectable accommodation, he was led — horrified — to a cellar off Bridgefoot Street, where he paid twopence for a bed among the local homeless.
