Historical city travel guide: Athens, 5th century BC

The citizens of Nineveh love to take a stroll along the Tigris in the early evening and children can always be seen running around and playing tag though note that ball games are not played. So, the mouth of one of the main rivers, Ajigawa, has been dredged. There is the usual level of petty violence inevitable when everyone carries at least a dagger and law enforcement is left to amateurs from the local communities serving short terms as constables and beadies.
