Limited information suggests that most populations in African waters are now severely depleted, or have become locally extinct ; ; . Extra care was thus taken during this study to ensure that any responses provided by interviewees pertained to sawfishes and not to guitarfishes. MPs came outside and read placards held aloft by the women.

Mozambique also issues foreign fishing rights for tuna and other large pelagics, but little or no information on catch is received from these foreign operators. Improving maternal and child health can only be realized through provisions of key services like quality and focused ANC. It is thus possible that some of the reports from both fisheries observers and industrial or semi-industrial fishers pertain to saw sharks rather than sawfishes.
