Holdings: Leadership :

Journal of Clinical Gastroenterology 20; 4, 293-295. These are all inherent in clinical governance. It is the job of the nurse leader to guide nurses and ensure that they are adhering to high standards of quality and safety.

Leadership : the key to the professionalization of nursing

West MA et al 2014 Collective leadership for cultures of high quality health care. Research in Nursing and Health; 35: 3, 277-288. Hiring managers use this question to get a more in-depth idea of your previous experience and how it has prepared you for the position you're applying for.

Great Nurse Leaders Focus on These 6 Areas

Job satisfaction, they claim, is linked to empowerment and a sense of achieving personal and professional goals, and while low pay can create dissatisfaction, raising it does not create a sense of satisfaction with the job.

What Is Professionalism in Nursing?

Havig AK et al 2011 The effects of leadership and ward factors on job satisfaction in nursing homes: a multilevel approach.

The Nurse Leader Role As nurse leaders become increasingly aware of the correlation between a stronger team and stronger achievements in patient quality and safety, understanding how to incorporate steps for strategic, long-term success into day-to-day practice is key. Nurse leaders maintain the rigorous standards of care that patients and their families come to expect from exemplary healthcare facilities. Judge and Piccolo 2004 suggest that even transformational leaders use contingent rewards at times.
