This makes short telephoto lenses 85mm to 135mm especially useful for portrait photography, as the background appears completely blurred. A larger aperture smaller number means that more light passes through your lens. Wide-angle lenses are plagued with distortion as their wide field of view needs to fit on a small, rectangle surface.

When you achieve that, you have a perfectly focused image or subject. The camera helps bring out the most of the lens.

NIKOR DSLR Camera Lenses

Some photographers find that the lens is more important than the camera. If you have two numbers separated by a dash, it means your zoom lens has a variable maximum aperture.
