Reading Across International Boundaries: History, Policy, and Politics

The sources of discontent may be related to a variety of factors such as denial of cultural identity, political discrimination, repression, or economic deprivation. Teachers provided real-world audiences for students to engage with around global issues. Nina Hall looks at current trends to argue that climate change has become institutionalised in global affairs as a top priority issue, identifying four dimensions that confirm this: scientific consensus, political action, the location financial resources and the institutionalisation of climate change multilateral organisations.

Political system

Global Environmental Facility GEF , United Nations University Institute for Water, Environment and Health UNU-INWEH. Using the example of Norway, Rimmer explores the way that the popular divestment movement has globalised its efforts — striking at the heart of the international system
