Course Descriptions

The private manager is usually promoted from within the organization. They do not want stories about the slow, careful turnaround of an organization or about the delicate conversion of an establishment to new ideas.

Course Descriptions

Providing competitive pay to aid in recruiting and retaining excellent people while demanding competitive performance of them. Managers in public organisations are accountable to a much larger group of people — everyone in the governed area — and are always under public scrutiny. In this capacity, public managers work with private citizens and other public organizations to keep public programs running smoothly.
