Maloney worked closely with Interim Head of Middle School Alesia Klein, who has been a part of Monarch Watch, an education, conservation, and research program based at the University of Kansas that focuses on the monarch butterfly, its habitat, and its spectacular fall migration for many years. The programme seeks to sustain the high coverage levels of immunization achieved through UIP in good performing areas, and strengthening the immunisation services where the coverage is still not satisfactory. A key component of outreach is that the groups providing it are not stationary, but mobile; in other words they are meeting those in need of outreach services at the locations where those in needs are.
