Books About Books, Bibliography from Greystone Books

. Paul was there exhibiting with Gerry Mosdell and the other pioneers at the first-ever PBFA monthly fair in London in 1972 — and a familiar presence at all sorts of bookfairs down the years. The book contains, books by John Wain, contributions to books and periodicals, materials of critical and biographical interest, reviews of works by John Wain, and radio, television and sound recordings.

LITA's First Twenty

Librarians at smaller institutions were notified of the petition through a notice in the ALA Bulletin. . Book is in stock, and you can be assured that this book will be packaged well and shipped promptly.

LATE BOOKING: MY FIRST TWENTY

Pierre of the New York Public Library proposed a MARC Users Discussion Group to coordinate the activities of those libraries beginning to use the tapes and to discuss any technical problems.

After reviewing the pros and cons of round table, sectional, or divisional status, I concluded that only a division would have sufficient scope and authority to address the array of problems demanding attention and to carry out the programs mentioned. Requests were frequently received from librarians, equipment manufacturers, and others for information about various aspects of the library automation field.

Paul Minet

Although he was not a practicing Christian in the strictly religious sense and regular church-goer himself, Paul had a lot of respect for the culture and traditions of the Church of England, and I think the order of service for his funeral at St.

Minet Paul P B not

Illustrated with photographs and line-drawings by Edward Ardizzone and Michael Lasserson. Following that, I urged the need for leadership by ALA; much of the current activity in library automation, I argued, was badly planned, imperfectly executed, and unnecessarily expensive, simply because there was very little opportunity for librarians to exchange information or learn from the experience of others.
