Long Range Development Plans

These are required before a project can be approved to move into design and construction.

ERIC

All forms of travel are considered: pedestrian, bicycle, mopeds, motorcycles, cars, service and delivery vehicles, emergency vehicles, and hazardous material transportation.

Long

Both the OPA targetry system and the range construction must meet the interface requirements documented in the RDG for the range to function properly. It all started with the Facilities Master Plan, the blueprint for campus development that is produced every 10 years and updated every 5 years. Each type of utility's expansion strategy is planned to accommodate the growing campus population and technology changes.

Long Range Estimates (LRE)

An LRDP may be amended at any time, and is in effect until a new LRDP replaces it.

Long Range Estimates (LRE)

Planning Terms Defined An outline created every 10 years that charts a vision for the physical development of the campus. They are reviewed by the University of Colorado Board of Regents, the Colorado Department of Higher Education, and by legislative committees of the Colorado General Assembly. The Environmental Impact Classification form see within the Program Planning Guide for each project asks whether the project conforms with the LRDP.

ERIC

The framework of support systems includes circulation, utilities, and information. The Finance and Capital Strategies Committee has the authority to amend LRDPs. The Module layout of the RDG allows the designer to go directly to a needed file.
