Petroleum and gas production and reserve statistics

Germany is also showing signs of reconsidering increased gas imports from the U. Johan Sverdrup is being developed in two phases with the first phase scheduled to commence production in November 2019. As a result, fossil fuels in varying amounts depending upon the source of information are projected to be the major sources of energy for the next fifty years.

Top 10 Natural Gas Producing Countries in the World

The supplies to meet that new growth will come from both new domestic production in these fast-growing economies but also increasingly from major exporting countries, led by the development of the abundant shale gas resources in the United States. They extend across most of the country and some of the major plays are located near highly populated areas with sensitive environments in the surroundings.

Urengoy began production in 1978, and, though its output has declined over its peak years, it still exceeds the production from any other gas field in the world. Domestic gas sales are a different matter, where many areas have their own local distribution companies and buy gas from either Gazprom or Itera. In spite of the extreme enthusiasm of Dalik Group officials to introduce the Russian company, the American partner in the field, Nobel Energy Company, objected.
