Some are shorter rebuttals to a specific set of issues, some are larger, more encyclopedic treatments of divergent arguments between the madhhabs, and many are aimed specifically at responding to the counter-arguments of one particular madhhab Shāfi'ī or Mālikī. After each recitation, they read the special supplication which is the exact supplication read in the Cape and many other parts of the world. We feel compelled to make an observation here: this is not a fiqh or fatwa website.

Next is the discussion of the possibility of Islamic law Sharia to coexist with contemporary international law regarding the issue of the right of expression as a human right. Focus: An analytical study of contentious issues in history between the Shī'ah and Ahl al-Sunnah Textbook: Ḥiqbah min al-Tārīkh Author: 'Uthmān ibn Muḥammad al-Khamīs Objective: This work sheds light on a specific era in Islamic history that represents the focal point of contention between the Ahl al-Sunna wa al-Jamā'ah and the Shī'ah. He says that when he read the confusing arguments of Ghulam Qadiyani and the responses from the author, he experienced the ecstasy of the knowledge of the Salaf the Pious Predecessors.
