The family of Edensor had a mesne manor held under the Monjoys, which manor appears to have devolved in 1403, to Thurston Boure, as heir to Isabel wife of Robert Staunton, and Agnes the wife of Nicholas Clerke. She is named daughter of Ealdred by Roger of Hoveden, who also records her marriage. Dates The dates when archival entities whether single documents or the major subdivisions of the archive were created are recorded in the Dates of Creation field at the head of the catalogue descriptions.

Ormerod, George, The history of the county palatine and city of Chester, 2nd edition revised by Thomas Helsby, 3 vols London: George Routledge, 1882. Among these estates, neither the greatest nor the least, on the bank of the little river Irwell, was the manor of Pendleburg, which was held from the crown on an annual rent of sixteen shillings. The staff comprises fortyfour professors and a large body of lecturers.

The city and parish of Manchester: Introduction

The patronage of the parochial chapelry of Beeley is vested in the Duke of Devonshire. It is therefore more likely that Osferth was related to the royal family by marriage. Ingham was later rehabilitated and pardoned the arrears arising out of his terms as justiciar: Morgan, pp.

Kimbolton, Huntingdonshire

These dates should be distinguished from the dates of events recorded in the documents, which are cited in the text of the descriptions. The Index to the 1851 census returns has been used as the key reference work for determining the spelling and location of place-names, supplemented by the English Place-Name Society volumes for Cheshire, Derbyshire and the West Riding of Yorkshire, and by the indexes of Lancashire and Cheshire place-names compiled by Ekwall and Dunn. Apart from the streets above mentioned the parish was mainly agricultural, areas of wood, heath, and moss being intermixed with arable and pasture lands; the dwellings were the scattered manor and farm-houses and small villages.

Along with Wilmslow the manor of Thornton le Moors and lands therein were inherited by the Venables family from Hamo Fitton died c. He commissioned Dr Henry Guppy of the John Rylands Library to carry out a survey of the collection at Ashton, in the course of which Guppy numbered all volumes, bundles and loose papers in a single sequence from 1 to 211. The primary source which confirms her marriage has not yet been identified.
