Instructions on lying	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "TLDR find out what they want to hear if they're gonna give you 1 and then tell them just that. It's about getting treatment, not about being true to those around you. It's not their business and a lot of time doctors will screw stuff up for you."• "...Get a story ready in your head, and as suggested keep the lie to a minimum. And only for stuff that can't be verified. Like how you were feeling, but was too afraid to tell anyone including your family."• "I'd also look up the DSM for the diagnostic criteria for transgender and make sure your story fits it, assuming your psych follows it."
Urgency to transition	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "...If you don't do it when you are young, you'll be miserable and unhappy with your body for the rest of your life."
Vague and nonspecific symptoms called signs of GD	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• "Signs of indirect gender dysphoria: 1. Continual difficulty with simply getting through the day. 2. A sense of misalignment, disconnect, or estrangement from your own emotions. 3. A feeling of just going through the motions in everyday life, as if you're always reading from a script. 4. A seeming pointlessness to your life, and no sense of any real meaning or ultimate purpose. 5. Knowing you're somehow different from everyone else, and wishing you could be normal like them."

The Doctor's Dilemma (play)

How am I to inspire confidence? The nuciform sac is utter nonsense: theres no such organ. I should have liked very much to have kept the sketch and got it autographed. And I know what horses are, Sir Patrick.

The Risks of Rushing a COVID

I have seen some encouraging cases: a 93-year-old patient in critical condition recovered, and another patient was discharged from hospital after two rounds of ventilator intubation.

You'd much better cure them both. The arc of the competition was expanded with events held throughout all three days of the meeting: elimination rounds on Thursday, semi-final match-ups on Friday, and the championship game on Saturday. The popularity of the video underscores the difficulty in moderating misinformation surrounding the coronavirus, when treatments and public health responses have become increasingly political, aided in part by right-wing Facebook groups and super PACs secretly driving the conversation on social media.

Coronavirus and Rationing Health Care in the United States

He was ruined and driven out of his practice for only opening the windows; and now we wont let a consumptive patient have as much as a roof over his head. They treat us like lepers at the hotels.
