Stagecoach History

During the years of 1889 and 1891, the Basking Ridge Library Company had two ice cream festivals in the Presbyterian chapel, as fund raisers. Macquarie rebranded both into their original East London and Selkent identities, albeit updated.

Stagecoach Group

Robert Finley, director of the Basking Ridge Classical School. Served were cake and boiled cream, which had been taken to Morristown for freezing.

Stagecoach Group

An OFT inquiry allowed MK Metro to pass to Arriva who, initially, ran it as a separate operation, but have since started to brand buses as Arriva vehicles. In , Stagecoach subsidiary Busways offered bounties to recruit drivers away from the existing bus service and offered free buses to deter the rival preferred bidder from taking over the existing bus service.
