magazines to courses, subscriptions and DNA testing, all under one roof was unrivalled. Before setting off for France to prepare the interview between the two monarchs in October 1532, Carew told Chapuys that he would prefer to hinder the meeting, doubtless because he foresaw its possible consequence for the Queen.

Parishes: Beddington

Since 1902 the town has maintained the tradition of an annual crowning of the Wallington May Queen. In the 14th century the manor of Beddington Huscarl appears as held of the king as of the honour of Wallingford by suit at his leet held at Beddington or 2 s. It was probably one of the four mills at Beddington recorded in the Domesday survey of 1086.

Before the merged into the London Borough of Sutton in in 1965, it was part of the county of. Carew's own attitude to the divorce, and to the 's relations with France and the Empire, was ambivalent: loyal to and , he was none the less regarded as a friend of France. In his account Bellingham showed Carew as still owing nearly £700 from his sheriffdom of ten years earlier, but this was to ignore the letters patent of 8 Nov 1520 pardoning him a debt of £742 in that capacity: the deficit was no doubt due in part to his enforced exile during his year of office, but its remission was an unusual mark of royal favour.
