Full text of The poems of Catullus and Tibullus, and the Vigil of Venus. A literal prose translation with

O, you boys, lift the torches: I see the flame approach. According to Parthenias, the poet's meaning is, that the fair complexion of the bride looks as beautiful through her yellow marriage veil, as the white blossom of the parthenice does beside the yellow poppy. Any reader is always trying to piece it together into a narrative.

Catullus (c.84 BC

To this the gods will add those countless gifts which Themis of old was wont to give to pious men of ancient time. Let the earth rest on this sacred day ; let the ploughman rest, and suspend the hard labour of the furrow. Preferable: to Aufilena To live content with one man, , is the glory of highest glories for a bride: but its better to sleep with whoever she likes, than be mother of her cousins by her uncle.

Ma non si tosto dal materno stelo Rimossa viene, e dal suo ceppe verde, Che, quant'avea da gli uomini, el dal cielo, Favor, grazia, e bellezza, tutto perde. Booty hath girded fierce ranks with hostile arms-; hence comes bloodshed, and slaughter, and expedited death.

Translation, Expanded Translation, Version, Mess.

And let an inscription declare the sad cause of my death, and display these words on the conspicuous front of the tomb : Here lies Lygdamus ; grief and pining love for his lost bride Neaera were the cause of his death.
