. We would like to express our gratitude to the authors for submitting their work.

Proceedings of the STLE/ASME International Joint Tribology Conference

The exchange of ideas, theories, developments, innovations, improved methods and future trends was a key goal of this conference, by bringing together specialists from industry and academia, leading and young researchers, from various engineering and science fields. We also hope that all participants have had a pleasant and fruitful time in Galati, on the banks of the Danube River.
