Supplement to the Oxford English Dictionary, Vol. 1: Burchfield, R. W.: 9780198611158: tools.github.ffxiv.cn: Books

He is a Fellow of Kellogg College Oxford. Many parts and sections were issued with Prefaces—or, in some cases, short prefatory notes—written by the relevant Editor; in addition, when a volume, or a half-volume, or a particular letter was completed, a separate Preface might be produced for it. So the vital addendum, which transforms the OED into an indispensable tool for the eighties, will be made available for the first time in this convenient and affordable format.

OED editions

Indeed, he was single-handedly responsible for re-establishing a tradition of historical lexical research on the OED which had evaporated with the disbanding of the original OED staff on the completion of the First Edition of the Dictionary 1884-1928. Peter's College, Oxford, is also the author of The Spoken Word and The English Language. But the Compact did not contain the Supplements to the OED which have been appearing at regular intervals since 1972.

Oxford English Dictionary

Within the alphabetical range of Se to Z, this volume contains all the new words that have come into use during the twentieth century and includes as well the countless new meanings that have been applied to older words. That connection shaped his life, more than he knew when he arrived.

Dictionary Editors

He came to Oxford in 1950 as a Rhodes scholar. When he was appointed Editor of the Supplement to the Oxford English Dictionary in 1957 a post which he held until 1986, he put aside his Middle English research in favour of the study of the modern lexicon, but never lost the dogged rigour in his medieval work. Their work consisted mainly in the collection of materials, and it was not until Dr J.

A Supplement to the Oxford English Dictionary Volume 4

Magdalen knew him as a good rugby player, soon to become the captain of the Magdalen team, and his tenure of that captaincy showed his character, for he gave it up at the end of his first year because it deflected him from his work, was summoned by the Warden of Rhodes House, Sir Carleton Allen, and told that his duty lay as much on the playing-field as in the library: Burchfield did not give in. Honours came to him from 1972 onwards. It shows his total grasp of the subject.

He taught there in the year that followed his graduation: it coincided with the 50th anniversary of its foundation, and he wrote for that occasion the rarest of his publications, a brief history of the college.
