Bonhams : Stanislas Lépine (French, 1835

The decision to validate a work, Dieterle says, rests on three elements. It augments and has concordances to Zervos, and incorporates all ills. Corot 1796—1875 was extremely prolific: he produced some 3,000 paintings and roughly the same number of drawings, Dieterle says.

The first show ever of Corot drawings in the United States, it will feature unpublished works from private American and European collections.

Catalogues Raisonnés

Lépine executed several versions of this view, receiving a first class medal for Le Pont de l'Estacade à Paris at the International Exhibition in 1889. Text by Marcel Duchamp, André Breton, Henri-Pierre Roché, Jean-Jacques Lebel, Michael R. Dieterle, 77, has been pondering this question for decades.
