Scale Model Tips

I get much better results using variations of basic colours by add a few drops of lighter or darker colour and creative use of artists oils. Thank so much, it looks awesome! When you were spraying your body colour on the engine it is a good idea to spray some plain transfer sheet with the same colour.

Scale Model Tips

Use less-contrasty panel line washes. Today we offer what surely must be the widest range of miniature road and rail locomotives available from one single company. And unrealistic, hyperbolic contrast is better than no contrast, right? If not already pre-cut, you will need to cut around the outline of each decal and peel the backing off before placing it onto the model.

Getting rid of the paint creep is exactly the same as correcting flaws in lining so we will deal with the subject at that time.

Tank painting / lining

This is because enamel paint corrodes the plastic material that Gunpla parts are made of when too much is applied, so make sure that you dab the brush of the panel line accent color on some paper or on the rims of the bottle to remove excess paint. Stretcher bar lining Many paintings are wanted for exhibition and loan. The basic idea is that the model would look more lifelike if its panel lines appear darker than the overall finish.

Holman Hunt also used double canvases. If you like your aircraft looking like Flying Armor...Great!!!! We use it on many canvases to make them suitable for loan and transport and it normally remains in place for the next time the painting is moved. For drybrushing, you will normally require a lighter tone of the base paint your model.

Tank painting / lining

Above 75—80% RH a linen canvas tends to shrink and animal glue loses its strength. This lavishly illustrated book provides guidance on how to transform your model from its bare structure to a realistic finish.
