Youth Involvement in Community Planning

Research into the effective adoption of youth-adult partnership principles is limited and reveals mixed results. An area receiving particular attention recently, engaging youth as full partners in research and evaluation on programs that affect them, is youth participatory evaluation.

Community Boards

If you are organizing a new group of people, try to make your planning committee as diverse and inclusive as possible.

To support the enhanced capacity to respond to youth homelessness in unique local contexts across Canada, A Way Home has developed this toolkit to help communities create plans to prevent, reduce and end homelessness among young people. Action projects completed so far include refurbishing bleachers at a local high school, planning and hosting a series of community youth and family activity nights, and planting flowers to enhance a community in preparation for hosting the U.

Community Planning Toolkit: Preventing Youth Substance Misuse and Building Protective Factors

Youth and Government — Participating in regular and sustained government positions, roles and activities can allow youth community developers to change the world.

Youth Involvement in Community Planning

Programs lost momentum when there were delays or cancellation of events, as youth and adults often became involved in other projects. An action plan describes the way your organization will meet its objectives through detailed action steps that describe how and when these steps will be taken. Observers of this program will not find youth sitting passively around a boardroom table, but rather working side by side with adults and community members to identify community concerns and take action to address issues that matter to them.

Teaching Young People About Planning

Focus on local resources whenever possible. I felt that all of the youth went away feeling far more confident and with greatly improved communication skills.
