Around 1820, Josiah Wedgwood introduced a new type of porcelain.

Flow Blue Porcelain: Wedgwood Creamware & Cobalt Blue

At that time, owning Chinese porcelain was an established status symbol of the English aristocracy and upper-class, but even with ever increasing imports Chinese porcelain was still too expensive and scarce to fill the needs of the new English middle-class. I am listing several other antique or vintage souvenir plates this weekend and I will combine shipping. Wedgwood Bentley 1769-80 This mark was used on intaglios and 356 is the number of Wedgwood and Bentley catalog.
