Narratively

Each volume devotes perhaps a hundred pages to the climactic race itself. Tribes in the Kalahari Desert in Botswana have been known to employ endurance running to scavenge and hunt prey.

Endurance running hypothesis

If this were a work of fiction, you'd barely believe it, but you'd credit Alfred Lansing for his story-telling and imagination. Nobody in the outside world knew they were in trouble, much less where they were.

Alfred Lansing wrote this book from the journals the men kept, which gave him a very detailed picture of every stage of this journey.
