Varahamihira of the Gupta age was a profound scholar of all the sciences and arts, from botany to astronomy and from military science to civil engineering. In practice, this has been threatened on a number of occasions and is treated most seriously by institutions. However, the role of improved schooling, a central part of most development strategies, has become controversial because expansion of school attainment has not guaranteed improved economic conditions.

On the one hand, it came to pass that a Roman was considered truly cultivated only if he had the same education, in Greek, as a native Greek acquired; on the other hand, there progressively developed a parallel system of instruction that transposed into Latin the institutions, programs, and methods of Hellenistic education. The High Court of Australia decision in Rogers v Whitaker established that a medical practitioner has not only a duty to exercise reasonable care in the diagnosis and treatment of a patient's condition, but also a duty to disclose material risks inherent in any proposed treatment.

Our non-public schools, both church-oriented and nonsectarian, have been our special concern. It has been noted that an Ethics Committee acts for and on behalf of the Authority Brazier 1990. There were, however, a few studia generalia such as Oxford, the position of which was too well established to be questioned, even though they had never obtained such a bull; these were held to be studia generalia by repute.
