Crisis Services

The centralized line is available to provide after-hours coverage for mobile crisis providers throughout the state. The services and supports offered through the ACTION line are available to all residents of Connecticut at no financial cost to the caller. Bus cuts and shrinking transport networks are making it harder and harder for people to get to work or school, to visit friends and family, or access shops and services, as well as putting extra pressure on our congested roads. On Wednesday morning, the government will say what tariffs it will levy on food and goods, and how it will ensure the Northern Ireland border remains open — plans that had been deemed so sensitive that they had been kept secret until now.
