The poor man had tremendous problems; there were too many people in the cast, too many actors with no dialogue in the scenes , and the fact that they had over-extended themselves for special effects...The whole film was ineffectual.

Captive Women (1952)

Enforced disappearance or abduction is one of the major violations in Syria. The figures contain no information about execution of women, therefore the death rate of women captives could not be confirmed. Even though Turkey pursued a common diplomatic process with Russia and Iran during the summits in Astana, it dissociates from them with respect to the schemes about the future of the Assad regime.
