Quote by Judge Learned Hand

All things are necessarily conditioned and quite empty of independent existence.

Chapter II. Stoicism and the Supremacy of Reason

For example, the practice of killing parents when they reach the borders of old age seems like appalling heartlessness till one learns the intellectual situation in which it is done, which is perhaps that these killers conceive the parents as retaining through eternity the powers they take with them from this world; when seen in the light of such a belief, actions that seemed like heartless cruelty may take on the aspect of devotion. ### Supremacy of Reason

Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, so that we may know the things freely given to us by God, which things we also speak, not in words taught by human wisdom, but in those taught by the Spirit, combining spiritual thoughts with spiritual words. We can see on reflection that we feel these things because our reason has been invaded from below. East Lansing, USA: Michigan State University, 2011.

The Supremacy of Faith, the Supremacy of Reason

For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? But if, before habits of enjoying such objects can firmly fix themselves, critical reflection is brought to bear upon them, questioning whether enjoyment would be well-placed, and breaking the object up after the manner of mental analysis, the normal habits of unreflective delight never grow up; they are withered before they can take root. But the argument started from the premise that we observe around us many things that really are good, and with the retraction of that premise, there is nothing to argue about. His emotions are not his enemies, they are his means of enjoying life.

Questioning the Supremacy of Reason

I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling, and my message and my preaching were not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, so that your faith would not rest on the wisdom of men, but on the power of God.
