Reflect & Relate, 5th Edition

Twitter, YouTube, and social networking sites offer new media for persuasive appeals. Using a student-friendly approach, authors Steven Beebe, Susan Beebe, and Mark Redmond help students see the importance of becoming other-oriented: a mindful process of considering the thoughts, needs, feelings, and values of others, rather than focusing exclusively on oneself.

If you want to be an effective communicator, you need to practice observing people in public places, such as a shopping mall, bus, train, café, restaurant, or even on a television talk show with the sound muted. The last two decades have brought a significant expansion of our understanding of the role of differences in culture, age, gender, sexual orientation, religion, political perspectives, and other points of view in people's ability to connect with others.
