Personal Robots Group

This is the type of book that even the most reluctant reader will be mesmerized by. Cynthia Breazeal and her students conduct research that advances the state-of-the-art in socially intelligent robot partners that interact with humans to promote social and intellectual benefits, work alongside with humans as peers, learn from people as apprentices, and foster more engaging interaction between people.

Nexi

Look for the that interests you, the , the , or see what's. At times the level is appropriate for a skilled 2nd grade reader, but overall we're looking at a book aimed at 3rd and 4th graders and up.

Advanced Robots

The small size and colourful design of PaPeRo is intended to appeal to both children and adults, with its face designed to look both friendly and non-threatening.
