Chapter 5. Socialization

Sometimes sociology and psychology can combine in interesting ways, however.

Canada's Dark Side

Detective Holste headed down a hallway and entered a small room. So, GNI refers to productive output and PPP refers to buying power.

Jerry P. White, Professor, Department of Sociology

The transition into any new life role, despite the social structure that supports it, can be difficult. The game of hockey for example, in which highly skilled men and women chase a disk of rubber around a frozen sheet of ice risking injury and expending energy for nonproductive purposes, is on the surface of it, an irrational and crazy activity.

Chapter 5. Socialization

And lastly, retreatism refers to the rejection of both the goals and means and retreating to or indulging in substance abuse.
