Neither among celestials, nor among , nor among men was anybody possessed of such beauty, seen or heard of before. The glances of those illustrious kings were rivetted to those parts of her person where they had chanced to fall first, without moving at all. They through whose anger I have been despoiled of my kingdom, they through whose influence distressed and afflicted with hunger, I am unable to procure sustenance, they for whom the Nishadhas offered me not any hospitality, they are carrying off my cloth, assuming the form of birds.

A horizontal row of 12 solid black squares arranged in a single line.

Who, except the virtuous Nala, could go away, deserting in the woods, his dear and unoffending wife overcome with fatigue? Having regard to the feeling of satisfaction my mind experiences, and the delight my heart feels, I am greatly afraid this one is king Nala himself. Clad in this severed piece of cloth, and lying like one distracted, how will the beauteous one of luminous smiles behave when she awakes? It is through your help that I expect to go to the Vidarbhas.

Nalopakhyana: The story of Nala

Deserted by that man of little virtue, her life itself is in danger. You have obtained Bhima's daughter, and she has also obtained you.

Shri Krishna Pranami Mandir

My son and daughter, sent to my father's palace, are living there. I shall not, therefore, impute to you the faults of others. I have heard it from you that kindness is the highest virtue.

Nalopakhyanam: The story of Nala

Pacing thus to and fro, he found a handsome sword lying near the shed, unsheathed.
