President Putin is a system forming figure — but what kind of a domestic and foreign and security policy system is he trying to create? First, the panel determined that actions taken under Article XXI b are reviewable. Each side will attempt to use the oil and gas trade to gain leverage over the other and minimize its own vulnerability. The development of new methods of extracting shale gas in the United States increased the supply of LNG to Europe at the same time as the 2008-09 global financial crisis led to a sharp drop in demand.
