Efficient and modified protocol for zymography to detect muscle specific calpain activity

After a centrifugation 4min, 4°C, 11000rpm proteins were quantified in supernatant by a Bradford test. Thus, the kit detects only activated calpain in cytosol upon treatment of cells with inducers etc. Overall, purpose of the present study is to provide relatively simple and well described experimental protocol which can be used for muscle-specific calpain study.

Significance was determined using the log-rank test.

I received the download link within seconds after order confirmation! No attempt was made in this assay to differentiate μ- from m-calpain activities.

Calpains and Myogenesis

These questions range from purely biochemical problems of protein structure and enzyme regulation at the molecular level, through large areas of cell biology, to applied and clinical aspects of calpain function in human disease. Representative western blots of three independent experiments are presented. Purification and Characterization of Crustacean Calpain-Like Proteases, Donald L.
