Chapter 1: International Law, Adoption of the Law of the Sea Convention

Caracas... needs an abbot to make it sacred, an archangel to protect it, a cardinal to put order in it, a monk to clean it, a gardener to trim it, a carpenter to varnish it, a conqueror to discover it, a discoverer to seduce it, a passion to heal its injuries, to make it tidy, sacred, beautiful, passable, virginal and possible, made of architecture. The principal river draining the valley is the Guaire, once relatively large but now reduced in volume and highly polluted.

Constantinos also regularly advises sovereign clients and private parties on a wide range of private and public international law issues. If the entrance is equal to or less than 24 miles wide at low-tide, then a State may draw a straight baseline across the entrance, effectively making the entire bay internal waters.

First and Second Conferences on the Law of the Sea The first off-shore oil rig out of the sight of land started producing in 1947, and there was slow growth of off-shore operations through the 1950s.

to future

Educational campaigns in matters of road safety; the preservation of public spaces, celebration of cultural events, etc. Even by United Nations standards, the Third Law of the Sea Conference is a monumental undertaking in international diplomacy. Caracas is the capital of Venezuela, and as such, it must be treated preferentially.
