Orders of the Day — Welfare Reform and Pensions Bill: 23 Feb 1999: House of Commons debates

I believe that there will be a vacancy there shortly. Even if one does not count personal private pensions, and includes only both trust and contract-based defined contribution schemes and group personal pensions bought by the employer on behalf of their employees, there are more than 200,000 pension schemes in the UK.

TUC Response to the Pensions Green Paper

In fact, they have made the position worse. Another factor often referred to is the impact of the Minimum Funding Requirement on scheme solvency. That is where Sandler and stakeholder pensions, frankly, do not have a role.

I hope that the Government and the will give that serious consideration.

Labour And Capital: May 2007

That was a mistake that was made.

Welfare Reform and Pensions Act 1999

For example, the present system assumes that in many cases lone parents will stay on benefit for 16 years or longer. We are determined to do more for people who cannot work, so the Bill also reforms and modernises support for disabled people. It is also about ensuring that they have a decent standard of living when they retire.
